THE GRAND ARMY.

The Joint committee from the G. A. R. Posts, Women's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans, of Wheeling and Benwood, met. Saturday night after the regular meeting of J. W. Holliday Post at Odd Fellows' hall, all the orders being represented! All present expressed their opinions freely as to the best method or methods of making the coming state encampment of the different outders to beheld here in April, a success.

The result of the consultation was the appointment of a special committee of one from each order represented to formulate a plan for the giving of a grand musical and literary entertainment in the near future. This committee meets on Tuesday evening and reports to the general committee at its meeting on next Saturday night. All are enthusiastic in the matter and think there will be no trouble in raising the money necessary to give the visiting comrades, their wives, sisters, daughters and sons a rousing reception. If this matter were properly brought before the business men they would doubtless help the cause along by contributing, for it will be a good advertisement for Wheeling business men.

The department officers of the G. A. R. The department officers of the G. A. R. were expecially favored at the last election, Commander R. H. Freer being elected circuit udge and Junior Vice Commander Richard Robertson was elected county clerk of Ohio county.

A Serious Matte.

A man named 'William Smith, who lives on Woods street near Fourteenth, was arrested late Saturday night by Deputy Sheriffs McCollough, Lantery and Detective Lukins on a charge which might turn out a most serious one. Some time aso Smith, while in a quarrel with a fellow workman named Harry Kane, hit the latter a rather hard blow over the head with a hammer. Nothing serious was expected at first, but the injured man has given signs in the past few days of sinking, and as Smith was indicated by the criminal court, a cupious was issued for him and the arrest was made as above stated. The quarrel took place at Altenheim, where both men were employed, working on the new church at that point. A Serious Matte.

The Chronicle Telegraph of Saturday says: The steamer Virginia, of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati packet line, arrived at the wharf with the first consignment of New Orleans molasses of the season. Her cargo consisted of seven hundred and lifty barrels and ten hogsheads of sugar. The Cincinnati and New Orleans steamers now on their way up the Mississippi also have large consignments for this city, and the total shipments for this city, and the total shipments here will amount to over 2,000 barrels. All day long drays were kept busy hauling the product off the wharf which is consigned to Pittsburgh dealers.

Large shipments of molasses are always made to this city by river about this season of the year. Usually two or three large firms get the consignment. The Hudson will also bring a big cargo of the "sweet stuff" next Wednesday. Her shipment may be larger than the Virginia's. The Virginia also brought considerable poultry, and altogether she had one of the largest trips ever brought up the Otho river by her since she was launched, about a year ago. She takes away from here considerable pelity and also be reshipped at Cincinnati. A large lift of nalls were also delivered on board, and her down stream trit will be as large as could be expected at this season of the year.

Across the River.

James Dorsey, of Marthy's Ferry, committed suicide on Saturday afternoon in the Martin's Ferry Jall, by cutting his throat with a razor. He soon expired. He was a single man, thirty-five years of age, and a glassworker by trade. He boarded with Mrs. Miller Majoris on First street. Dorsey was arrested on Monday for drunkeness and disorderly conduct and fined $5 and coats. His fine was not paid and he remained in Jall, expecting to go to work on the streets to-day.

He occupied a cell on the west side of the Jall and shaved himself on Friday with a borrowed razor and outfit, which the owner expected to get the same day, but did not do so and the outfit was left with Dorsey. With this razor he ended his life about 4:10, in front of his cell. Officer John Walters was inside shortly after 4 o'clock, at which time Dorsey was alone and playing solitary. He spoke to Walters and seemed to be in good spirits. Walters left and at the above hour John Plinkerton, who was also confined in the Jall, discovered that Dorsey had cut his threat, and he rapped on the front door and notified Officer Goodhue of the tact, telling him io come in quick. Goodhue hurrted in and seeing what had occurred, immediately telephoned for Dr. B. O. Williams, but his services were not needed, Dorsey's life had departed. The sight was a ghastly one, the cut extending almost from ear to car. No one saw the suicide occur. Pinkerton was the only other person in the Jall at the time and was some distance away and his attention was attracted by the steritorious breathing.

Dorsey's real reason for taking his life is not positively known. He had been a hard drinker, had become completely sober and announced his intention to swear off.

The remains were taken to W. L. Nobles undertaking rooms, on Hanover street, and afterwards taken in charge by Friend, of Wheeling, and removed to Wheeling, where they will be buried by relatives.

this is a small matter. Perhaps sometimes it may be. The most horrible dreams are, however, due to affections of the serves. Irritated, thred, worn out nerves are one of the chief causes of indigestion. More than that, they are a continual strain and drain on the brain. They are sapping the vitality of the brain every instant in the day. By the time night comes, the brain is too tired to rest. It is an unnatural condition of fatigue. The little worries and irritations of the day find repetition at night in the form of dirty, muddy water, filled with slimy, crawling things, from which the most frantic efforts give no relief until the sufferer finds himself wide awake, sitting up in his bed, with sleep bunished for that night. That is nervousness, perhaps caused by, or causing, indigestion, and producing, insomina—sleeplessness. It doesn't take a man long to wear out with that sort of work. the penitentiary and the other two were sentenced to the state reformatory at Mansfield, a sort of intermediate penitentiary. Their terms are fixed by the authorities of that institution, but cannot be shorter or longer than the time for which they could have been sentenced to the penitentiary, viz: from one to ten years. Much will depend upon their

the ruling of the judge on their motion, but after sentence was pronounced they probably thought they had better not take chances on a new trial and the case is not likely to be taken to the circuit
